BIG YEAR IN AERIAL SPORT AID TRAFFIC

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, April 22.—Air events planned for 1920 promise to make it a big aviation sport year, according to the American Flying Club. The first event of importance will be the flying field day of the Intercollegiate Flying Association at Mineola field, N. Y., May 1. Eleven colleges and universities will be represented in a varied program of flying stunts, which will be concluded with a cross country flight. In this race each will be permitted to enter two airplanes and a cup will be awarded to the winner. The start will be made at Mineola field, where the race also will end after a circuit that probably will include Philadelphia and Princeton.

Arrangements also are being made by the club for a seaplane race around Long Island. This probably will be held early in the summer. The club is cooperating with the training and operations group of the United States Army Air Service in planning for a transcontinental air race between New York and Alaska, a distance of 4,870 miles. In the tentative plans the course is mapped out from Mineola across United States territory to Minot, N. D., crossing the Saskatchewan, and across the Dominion to Fort Albert on the Alaska border. In Alaska the route runs to Circle, Fort Reliance, Fairbanks by way of Fort Reliance, then to Nulato and Nome. Compulsory stops at an average of 150 miles will be arranged.

Flying events of a sporting nature will not be confined, however, to the United States in 1920. In France a flying meet scheduled to be held at Juvisy, near Paris, May 22 and 23. The British aircraft exhibition will be held at London in July. In addition the British government has offered several million pounds as prize for various airplane sporting events to be held during the year. The cape to Cairo race is being blazed. Between the two points the distance by rail, steamship or ground transport is approximately 6,221 miles. The aerial line is about 5,200 miles.

Divide Mines Operating; 70 Per Cent in Tonopah Lay off For The Day

Prompted by curiosity seventy per cent of the miners in the Tonopah district failed to go to work this morning. In the Divide district every man was at his post and every shift went to work full handed and without the slightest reference to the agitation which led to the closing of several Tonopah mines. Most of the men who refrained from reporting with the regular shifts this morning took a layoff without drawing their time and therefore retain their good standing with their respective companies. After spending the morning in asking searching questions regarding the authors of the strike call and not succeeding in getting any satisfaction a few of the men got together with the object of polling the miners to secure a concrete view of their sentiments. With the consent of the district attorney and the district court authority was granted for a meeting the date of which would be decided later. During the morning a report gained circulation that a meeting would be held at noon at the civic hall, but there was no foundation for the call.

The West End reported over 50 per cent efficiency in that mine.

although in No. 2 shaft only three men showed up.

Manager Robins, of the Tonopah Belmont, ascribes his shortage of men to the presence of a line of pickets extending from the Harrington House up and down the hill. These pickets acted in direct defiance of the order of the district court against maintaining pickets or accosting men employed at the mines. Out of 196 men on the Belmont payroll 16 ran the gauntlet and reported for duty. These men given employment on top as the number did not warrant running the hoist or compressor. The Jim Butler was hoisting rock all day and the Tonopah Mining operated with diminished crews at the several shafts. No attempt was made to interfere with the pickets.

Four officers of the State Police arrived on the morning train and took steps to size up the local situation. The mine operators of the Tonopah and Divide districts have not received any communication from either their employees or the organizations with which they are affiliated and are at a loss to learn what is expected of them.
